Digital meets Contemporary

The wai-hun is no longer printed material. Which for a yearbookie, such as myself, breaks my heart. However, this allows more creative freedom that can be updated at any moment. So I present the first online, digital only Wai-hun. It’s a mixture of retro digital geometrics and contemporary colors and design.

Enjoy! Loren & Matt & Shelby
Student Life
Sculptor

Jack Stevens, a local sculpturer responsible for creating many sculpture on campus. He has created the Sun Watcher statue found in between the Clark Student Center and Prothro-Yeager Hall, as well as the Hotter ‘N Hell Hundred Bicycle statue near Hardin. His latest piece is three running Mustangs, that have a home on Midwestern parkway, by the D.L. Ligon Coliseum. Stevens is known for his bronze art that comes in many sizes.

MSU Homecoming 2008
What started as a few lights lining some of a few MSU buildings, has now become a display of over 30 brightly-lit attractions. After the passing of Mr. and Mrs. Burns, their collection of Christmas decorations were donated to MSU so that their holiday spirit could live on. Visiting of the Fantasy of Lights is now a standing tradition for many families in the surrounding communities. After 34 years, on the MSU campus, funding for the lights maintenance and upkeep is still being funded by the donations of generous citizens.
